Cambridge English Certificate (CEC)

CEC is a general proficiency test at Levels B1, B2 and C1 in the Council of Europe's Common European Framework of Reference (CEFR).

The CEFR covers six levels of language proficiency. Research carried out by the Association of Language Testers in Europe (ALTE) shows what learners can typically do at each level. The table below gives examples of typical ability in each of the skill areas for CEFR Levels C1, B2 and B1.

| Level C1 | Listening and Speaking | Reading and Writing |
|--------------------------------|--|---|
| Overall general ability | CAN contribute effectively to meetings and seminars within own area of work or keep up a casual conversation with a good degree of fluency, coping with abstract expressions. | CAN read quickly enough to cope with an academic course, and CAN take reasonably accurate notes in meetings or write a piece of work which shows an ability to communicate. |
| Level B2 | Listening and Speaking | Reading and Writing |
| Overall general ability | CAN follow a talk on a familiar topic. CAN keep up a conversation on a fairly wide range of topics. | CAN scan texts for relevant information. CAN make notes while someone is talking or write a letter including non-standard requests. |
| Social & Tourist | CAN ask for clarification and further explanation, and is likely to understand the answer. CAN keep up a conversation on a fairly wide range of topics. | CAN read the media for information quickly and with good understanding. CAN express opinions and give reasons. |
| Work | CAN ask for factual information and understand the answer. CAN express her/his own opinion, and present arguments to a limited extent. | CAN understand the general meaning of non-routine letters and understand most of the content. CAN write a simple report of a factual nature and begin to evaluate, advise, etc. |
| Study | CAN answer predictable or factual questions. CAN check that all instructions are understood. | CAN make simple notes that are of reasonable use for essay or revision purposes, capturing most important points. CAN present arguments, using a limited range of expression (vocabulary, grammatical structures). |
| Level B1 | Listening and Speaking | Reading and Writing |
| Overall general ability | CAN understand straightforward instructions or public announcements CAN express opinions on abstract/cultural matters in a limited way or offer advice within a known area. | CAN understand routine information and articles. CAN write letters or make notes on familiar or predictable matters. |

GENERAL DESCRIPTION OF THE CAMBRIDGE ENGLISH CERTIFICATE (CEC)

CEC is a general proficiency test at Levels B1, B2 and C1 in the Council of Europe Common European Framework.

Research has shown that typical candidates at level C1 can:

- understand a wide range of demanding, longer texts, and recognise implicit meaning
- express him/herself fluently and spontaneously without much obvious searching for expressions
- use language flexibly and effectively for social, academic and professional purposes
- produce clear, well-structured, detailed text on complex subjects, showing controlled use of organisational patterns, connectors and cohesive devices

| Result |
|--------|
| C1 |
| B2 |
| B1 |
| FAIL |

Research has shown that typical candidates at level B2 can:

Candidates Wholly or Partially Absent

A result of X indicates that the candidate was absent from part of the test.

A result of Z indicates that the candidate was absent from all parts of the test.

- understand the main ideas of complex text on both concrete and abstract topics, including technical discussions in their field of specialisation
- interact with a degree of fluency and spontaneity that makes regular interaction with native speakers quite possible without strain for either party
- produce clear, detailed text on a wide range of subjects and explain a viewpoint on a topical issue giving the advantages and disadvantages of various options

Research has shown that typical candidates at level B1 can:

- understand the main points of clear standard input on familiar matters regularly encountered in work, school, leisure, etc.
- deal with most situations likely to arise while travelling in an area where the language is spoken
- produce simple connected text on topics that are familiar or of personal interest
- describe experiences and events, dreams, hopes and ambitions and briefly give reasons and explanations for opinions and plans
